Three popular Myanmar vocalists - J Maung Maung, Htun Eaindra Bo and Phyu Phyu Kyaw Thein – will perform at a concert in New York City on May 31, as part of an extensive music tour of the United States.

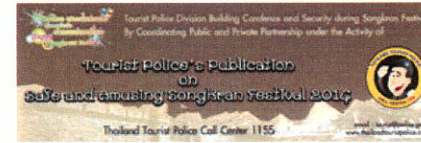

The trio will perform at the concert with the Plus Three Band, and officials said the event has already sold out.

“The US music tour will take about two months,” said Aung Thu, one of the members of the Plus Three Band. “Concerts will be held in about nine famous cities in the US. In addition to three vocalists from Myanmar, vocalist Khin Phone who lives there, will also join in on some concerts.

“Our band and the vocalists have practiced performances and are prepared for the concerts. There are a few days left between one concert and another, so we have time to observe. Before concert days, we can go to famous places for sightseeing. We will come back at the end of June.”

The vocalists left for the US at the beginning of May.
